XCEO Drives the Board Portal Market with Concierge

XCEO, Inc., a boutique consulting firm specializing in Extreme Personal Leadership™ and Enlightened Governance™, announces the integration of the Concierge, a personalized news and data resource, reinforcing BoardPortal PLUS™ as the board governance and information leader.

As part of a commitment to continually improve its board portal solution, XCEO has launched a new and unique offering to its BoardPortal PLUS clients focusing on personalized information to help directors stay current and connected by providing individualized data, news, financial information and research reports. One of the six unique products integrated into BoardPortal PLUS, the Concierge offers tailored, valuable information to board and director clients undoubtedly providing additional differentiation between XCEO and its competitors.

Understanding that a board portal is so much more than a document sharing technology, XCEO consistently works to provide users with a powerful, yet straightforward user experience. Focusing on specific features that provide boards and directors a competitive advantage in the boardroom, XCEO has conquered the critical board portal functionality and services, and has now gone far past what is expected, providing support via this unique technology which far surpasses other offerings currently on the market.

Neemesh Shah, XCEO's Governance Research and Data Analyst, understands the importance of driving client needs by providing exclusive information. He said, "At XCEO we take pride in listening to our clients and providing them with the best solutions. The XCEO Concierge is another example of how BoardPortal PLUS separates itself from the competition by creating an environment which engages directors between meetings and provides a platform for ongoing learning, sharing and communication. I, along with my team, am committed to making sure that the Concierge consistently includes insightful and customized material for all of our clients."

Whether a board is interested in personalized research, competitor information, economic news, industry data or board-specific documents, the Concierge simplifies another critical aspect of board meeting preparation and director development. With insights and customized news, boards can not only count on established functionality such as meetings, board books, email and polls, but it can expect tremendous enhancements of the communication and learning resources provided by notable outside sources as well as XCEO.

XCEO is delighted to offer this service at no additional cost for boards, rather fulfilling its commitment to continual improvement and innovation regarding its board succession, personal leadership, governance and board portal services.
